The hotline for night life

By Lisa Heyamoto -- Bee Staff Writer

If bar hoppers have heard one phrase a million times, it's this: Soooo. Where do you want to go?

It's always queried by the person who wants to answer the question least, and always produces a real sparkler of a conversation in which everyone half-offers up half-suggestions.

But fear not, party people - Napkin Nights is here to help. The Sacramento-based night life Web site offers a phone service - (866) NN-EVENTS (663-8368) - that clubbers can call to find out where it's going off on any given evening.

"We wanted another way that people can access our service," says Tracy Lee, co-founder of the 4-year-old site, at www.napkinnights.com.

"Some people are traveling and they're not able to access a computer, so they can still call our phone number and be able to get current events that are going on."

Of course, the real benefit of the phone line is that it makes it possible to check in on the scene while you're actually in it.

The line is the latest in a series of expansions for Napkin Nights. Started in Sacramento, the company has expanded to Las Vegas, Phoenix and, most recently, San Francisco and San Diego.

The service is still in its early stages; a recorded message on the line simply states the goings-on directly from the Web site's events page. A sexy-toned lady will eventually take the place of the robotic computer voice, Lee says, and the menu probably also will change.

"We're in constant development," she says.

So folks, consider yourselves dialed in.
